

Teacher Licensure Program in Secondary Social Studies Program Goals

The teacher licensure program is designed to develop highly competent and caring professionals to serve in educational leadership roles. The program is designed around the following four core principles:

- Intensive school experiences in secondary classrooms throughout the program which prepare students to teach in large, traditional high school settings and small learning communities, such as Freshman Academies and Early Colleges
- An emphasis on broad issues of diversity, including the development of culturally responsive pedagogy, serving students with special needs, and teaching English Language Learners
- A focus on strong content preparation, effective curriculum design, and cross-discipline, integrated curriculum
- Global connections to the high school curriculum and overall secondary experience

Upon completion of the secondary licensure program, students should be able to:

- Demonstrate leadership in their classroom, in the school, and in the community
- Establish a respectful environment for a diverse population of students
- Know the content they teach
- Collaborate with colleagues across grade levels and disciplines
- Relate learning to applied, authentic experiences
- Contextualize teaching, learning, and schools within a global perspective
- Facilitate learning for all students
- Establish a pattern of reflective practices and scholarly inquiry culminating in confidence, professionalism, and effectiveness in the role of a teacher.
- Use technology to support teaching and learning
- Communicate in Standard English, both verbally and in written formats
- Demonstrate professional behaviors, a caring personality, a positive disposition to helping students be successful, and a proactive nature in connecting to families and the community

Secondary Social Studies Program Objectives

- a. To demonstrate an in-depth understanding and appreciation of the interplay of the social, political, geographical, economic, and cultural forces shaping society.
- b. To demonstrate knowledge of, and appreciation for, the growth and development of both western and non-western civilizations and the United States.
- c. To understand the connections between their own lives and cultures and the larger social, political, and economic contexts of society.
- d. To integrate knowledge provided by the social science disciplines in order to view current international happenings from a global perspective.
- e. To demonstrate understanding of and sensitivity to conditions of cultural diversity.
- f. To generate explanations of the influence of social, political, economic, and environmental matters as they developed in the past, exist in the present, and hold implications for the future.

- g. To demonstrate the skills and intellectual orientation necessary to solve problems rationally, make informed decisions, and examine value systems and patterns of behavior.
- h. To demonstrate the ability to teach social studies skillfully by drawing upon a sound intellectual base.

Licensure Requirements

Students who plan to become licensed teachers in the North Carolina public schools must complete the University or Basic Studies requirements, all requirements in the major, and be formally admitted to the Watson School of Education. Requirements for admission are listed in the UNCW Undergraduate Catalogue, and also are listed on the Watson School’s website at http://www.uncw.edu/ed/advising/start_under.html.

Formal Criminal Background Check Requirement

All students completing degree or non-degree programs leading to NC teacher licensure must complete a formal criminal background check as they enter education coursework and again as they begin the student-teaching internship semester. Failure to complete the background check will prohibit you from taking any education coursework in which field experience is required.

Note: Admission to the Watson School of Education is required for enrollment in SEC courses. A grade of "C" or better is required in all professional education courses. Students may repeat courses in which they earned a grade lower than "C" (2.00) only with the permission of the dean of the Watson School of Education. However students should realize that courses are only offered once a year. Hence, repeating a course will add another year to a student’s program of study. A cumulative grade point average of 2.70 is required for eligibility for the practicum semester.

In addition to the requirements for the academic major, the Secondary Education courses listed below are required for licensure. A grade of “C” or better must be earned in the following courses:

Professional Core:

- SEC 200 Teaching, Schools and a Global Society (3)
- SEC 210 Diverse Learners in Secondary Schools (3)
- SEC 220 Field Experience Block 1 (2)

Program Notes

- For traditional undergraduates, the education program is two years with students beginning Block 1 in the fall of their junior year.
- The program is designed in a cohort model: Students will remain with the same group of students from Block 1 through to Block 4 of the program.
- Advance planning of programs is essential for students interested in becoming teachers in secondary or allied education areas. Block 1 and Block 3 courses are only offered in the fall semester, and Block 2 and Block 4 are only in the spring semester.
- Students should apply to the Watson School of Education as soon as admission requirements are met (typically by the end of the spring semester of the sophomore year), select courses carefully, and plan their programs in regular consultation with their advisors. A minimum of 124 hours is required for graduation.
- Students must comply with the Academic Achievement and Professional Behavior expectations described in the Watson School of Education’s Standards for Professional Conduct.
- Successful completion of field experiences assignments is required in order for students to be able to proceed to take education courses in the next block.
- In order to be eligible for internship students must:
 - a. be admitted to the Watson School of Education,
 - b. have a cumulative GPA of 2.7 or better,
 - c. have completed all required Education courses and ideally, all academic major courses.
 - d. have demonstrated appropriate professional dispositions as described in the Watson School of Education’s Standards for Professional Conduct.
 - e. complete an application for internship at least one semester in advance of the intended student teaching semester and attend orientation meetings.

Praxis II Specialty Tests are not required for majors who complete the teacher education program, including internship. Lateral entry teachers are required to take Praxis II. Registration materials and study guides are available online at www.ets.org/praxis .
