

B.A Criminology and Criminal Justice Criminal Justice Option

The University of North Carolina Wilmington, Onslow Extension Program, in partnership with the North Carolina Community College System, offers a Bachelor of Arts in Criminology and Criminal Justice that can be completed entirely in Jacksonville, NC. Students may choose from one of two options: Criminal Justice or Criminology.

Online and face-to-face courses are available and offered in Jacksonville at Coastal Carolina Community College and at the John A. Lejeune Education Center aboard Camp Lejeune. Area residents, military, and military dependents have access to these courses.

Career Opportunities in Criminal Justice

Criminal Justice is a valuable field of study for students who desire a background in social science and a direct career path upon graduation. Many graduates work in North Carolina law enforcement agencies such as the Wilmington Police Department, Sheriff's Department, the State Police, Alcohol, Law Enforcement, or supporting organizations such as Adult Probation and Parole and county and state correctional facilities. Other graduates pursue law degrees or federal government positions. Some choose advocacy work with social service agencies. We also prepare our students for graduate programs in criminal justice and other related areas.
