

Macintosh

Connecting to the UNCW Wireless Network

1. Click on the wireless connection icon in the upper right-hand corner of the Finder.
2. In the menu that appears, ensure that AirPort is turned on and select "Other."

3. In the window that appears, type uncwwep in the "Network Name" field and ensure that the "Wireless Security" dropdown menu is set to None. Then click the "OK" button.

4. After a moment you will be connected to the wireless network. At this point, launch Safari, or whatever web browser you use, and you will be presented with a network registration page where you will need to fill out all of the important information before gaining access to the wireless network
5. Once the Network adapter page has been completed, and the computer rebooted, the user should have successfully connected to the wireless and able to surf the web freely.

