BOSEMAN ART GALLERY EXHIBITION

FUNCTION FORM CERAMIC

The Ceramics studio at UNCW addresses a broad spectrum of work and approaches within the bounds of function. We use function as our baseline. It is the heart of the tradition and the jumping off place for innovation. Within this framework, students can uncover something new.

Function Form Ceramic highlights student work that has come out of the studio during the Spring 2011 semester. All of the work is Stoneware with Cone 10 glazes.

SCULPTURE ON THE COMMONS

The three outdoor sculptures on the Campus Commons were created by UNCW students in Assistant Professor Andi Steele's Intermediate and Advanced Sculpture classes. They are fabricated out of a variety of materials, including steel, wood, and found objects. The students designed the sculptures to be placed outdoors, considering multiple viewpoints and how the work will interact with the surrounding environment.

The sculptures were selected through a juried process by faculty of the Art & Art History Department. These exhibitions are co-sponsored by the Department of Art & Art History
