DEPARTMENT OF SOCIAL WORK

INTRODUCTION TO SOCIAL WORK AND THE SOCIAL WELFARE SYSTEM (SWK 235)

SPRING, 2010

INSTRUCTOR: Deborah E. Bowen, MSW, LCSW

PHONE: 962-7608

OFFICE: Leutze Hall, Social Work Office Suites

EMAIL: bowend@uncw.edu

OFFICE HOURS: M/W 10 a.m. – Noon; T/R 1:00 p.m. – 2:00 p.m.; Others by appt.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is an introduction to the nature and development of social welfare policy, social services, and the social work profession. The course is intended to provide students with a basic understanding of the American social welfare system, including social services typical of U.S. communities, and the major issues in social policy and social services today. In addition, the development and status of the profession of social work will be considered. This course reflects the Curriculum Policy Statement of the Council on Social Work Education and the stated objectives of the UNCW BSW program within the Department of Social Work. Specifically, the course relates to objectives concerned with the “range of social services,” the “history and development” of social welfare and social work, the impact of social policy”, and “cultural and human diversity” as they relate to policy and services.

Students will review the major features of social welfare and social work history, the principle fields of social work practice, and the typical social services available in American communities, including mental health, child welfare, health and anti-poverty programs. The implications of culture, social values, economics, governmental structure, and politics on policy and the structure and operations of social services will be considered. Ethical considerations in policy and practice as well as issues of social equality and economic justice will be themes throughout the semester. Limited international comparisons of both service and policy also will be provided.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. State the major historical factors that have shaped the profession of social work and social welfare policy, particularly as they relate to culture, politics, and the economy (evidenced by exams and library paper).
2. Explain the values and ethics of the profession (evidenced by exams and required papers content).
3. Describe the concept of professional social work and the concepts of generalist and strengths-based practice (evidenced by exams and library paper).

4. Utilize standard research materials in social welfare and social work, and be able to communicate research findings effectively (evidenced by exams and library paper).
5. Explain the primary types of social services available in American communities and the roles that social workers have in them, specifying the social services delivered, consumers, operation, funding and impact (evidenced by exams, interview and library paper).
6. Understand poverty, inequality, discrimination, cultural diversity, and the implications each has for social welfare policy and programs, and how social work plays a role in addressing these issues (evidenced by exams, library paper and interview project.)

REQUIRED TEXTBOOK

NOTE: Additional readings may be assigned during the semester as determined by the instructor

METHODS TO ATTAIN OBJECTIVES

The primary learning format will be lectures and classroom activities, which involve all students as active learners. Class lectures and exercises are based on the understanding that all readings assigned for that topic have been completed prior to class. It also is anticipated that each student has experiences and points of view that will enrich class discussions. The instructor will be responsible for organizing and presenting primary course material, assisting any student with course-related material and assignments, and for assessing student progress. The student in SWK 235 will be responsible for attending all classes, facilitating his/her own learning and that of others in class, sharing ideas, making observations, and asking questions.

ALL ASSIGNMENTS MUST BE TURNED IN AT THE BEGINNING OF CLASS ON THE DATE SPECIFIED, and must be presented in a professional fashion (typed, double-spaced, grammar-and-spell-checked, properly formatted, and written in the accepted American Psychological Association style). NO LATE PAPERS WILL BE ACCEPTED. ALL EXAMS MUST BE TAKEN ON THE DATE SPECIFIED BY THE INSTRUCTOR.

ACADEMIC HONOR CODE

Conformity to the University Academic Honor Code is basic to academic integrity. All tests and assignments turned in must acknowledge your familiarity to the AHC by handwriting the letters "AHC" followed by your initials.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

I am more than happy to make appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities. Students who have a disability and need accommodation should follow this procedure. First, contact and register with the Office of Disabilities Services in Westside Hall (ext. 3746). Second, bring a copy of your Accommodations Letter to me so that we may discuss the accommodation(s) suggested in the letter. Assistance will be gladly provided based on the recommendations of Disabilities Services and our mutual agreement.

ATTENDENCE

Regular class attendance is required, and full participation is expected.

ASSIGNMENTS AND EXAMS

- 1 & 2 A mid-term in-class examination will test your knowledge of course material. A capstone, comprehensive examination will be given at the end of the semester. Exam materials will be taken from text materials, library reading assignments, and ancillary materials presented by the instructor in lecture.
3. An extensive library paper will reflect your ability to locate and utilize social welfare-related information from national newspapers, academic journals, and the internet. (Details are provided on a separate sheet in this syllabus).
4. An interview with a local social work professional is required. Questions should be derived from material obtained from lecture, readings and class discussions (assignment details are provided on a separate sheet in this syllabus). A synopsis of your interview, along with your reflections regard the assignment, is required.

Library Paper:	25% of final grade
Professional Interview and Paper	25% of final grade
Mid-term Exam	25% of final grade
Capstone Assignment	25% of final grade
	100%

A final letter grade based on 100% of completed course assignments and exams will be given at the completion of the course. No +/- grades are given in the course. Grades are based on a 10-point scale, with no exceptions:

90 – 100 A	Papers must be written in the standard style of the American Psychological Association (APA), in third person, typed, double-spaced and in good grammatical form. A paper written in first person, singular or plural, will result in a grade of 59. Consult the writing center if you need help.
80 – 89 B
70 – 79 C
60 – 69 D
59 and below F

LIBRARY PAPER RESEARCH ASSIGNMENT

The research assignment required for this course is to be a synopsis of the readings undertaken. It must be typed, double-spaced, grammar-and-spell-checked, written in third person, and in the acceptable style of the American Psychological Association (APA). If you have difficulty with grammar and punctuation, please use the services of the Writing Center on campus. THE ASSIGNMENT MUST BE TURNED IN AT THE BEGINNING OF CLASS ON THE DATE SPECIFIED – NO LATE PAPERS WILL BE ACCEPTED. A paper written in first person singular or plural will receive an automatic grade of 59.

The paper counts twenty percent (25%) of your final grade in the class.
For APA style, consult:

American Psychological Association. (2009). Publication manual of the American Psychological Association. (6th ed.). Washington, DC: American Psychological Association.

This paper examines your ability to synthesize information gained in lecture and in your readings regarding a specific topic related to social work practice and/or social welfare. Examples of acceptable topics include current national policies on Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security benefits, faith-based initiatives, North Carolina's new Mental Health Service Plan, civil liberties housing issues and immigrant rights or lack thereof. Other acceptable topics include areas of social work/social welfare history, including reports on specific leaders in the field, or historical events that shaped social work's professional history. Areas of social work practice, including work in the fields of mental health, health care, work with the elderly, child protective services, hunger and homelessness, work with AIDS and HIV+ clients, bereavement, work with immigrants also are acceptable.

You must clear your chosen topic with the instructor before you begin.

You must include an examination of the topic at the micro, mezzo and macro levels, and you must discuss how this topic impacts social work and social welfare policies today. Also you must discuss what is being done to address the issue that is consistent with social work ethics and values as explicated in the NASW Code of Ethics.

Your research must include works from scholarly social work journals. Your paper also may include works from the popular press, the internet, and books. A minimum of five scholarly references is required.

Paper Format:

A cover page and abstract page are required.

A reference page at the back of your paper is required.

Paper must be written in third person, typed, double-spaced, and in good grammatical form. Consult the Writing Center if you need assistance. A paper written in first person singular or plural will receive an automatic grade of 59.

The instructor will present a workshop early in the semester regarding the use of APA referencing style.

LIBRARY PAPER IS DUE AT THE BEGINNING OF CLASS ON THE DATE SPECIFIED. NO LATE PAPERS WILL BE ACCEPTED FOR ANY REASON.

PROFESSIONAL INTERVIEW AND REFLECTION PAPER

Exercise Objectives:

The primary purpose of this exercise is to familiarize students with social service organizations, their purpose(s), structure, client populations, and methods of operation. The secondary purpose of the exercise is to provide students the opportunity to interact with a social worker. Finally, the paper is intended to enhance students' writing abilities, using APA writing style.

Methods:

You may choose from any social service agency in the area. It is the student's responsibility to research local agencies, contact a desired agency and schedule an interview with a social work professional. You must receive prior approval before proceeding with the agency of your choice. Example agencies will be offered during class.

Procedures/Requirements

- Research local social services agencies. Contact desired agency / agency representative and schedule a face to face interview.
- Prepare a minimum of 50 interview questions based on information provided in class lecture, readings and discussion. Questions and answers need to be typed along with agency information, interviewee information and date/time of interview. Documentation that you were given permission to use the interview in your paper must be included.

(Sample questions; Information concerning agency structure: is it a profit or non-profit organization? How are decisions about the structure and function of the agency made? How do the social worker and the agency utilize generalist practice? Does the agency/social worker include the strengths perspective in the agency's work? What is the education level of the social worker(s), what does s/he do? Does the agency conduct research? If so, what, and how is it used? What kinds of clients are served by the agency: age range, gender, ethnic background, needs of the clients? What additional services might the agency provide? What are the governmental policies that influence the agency operation?)

- A reflection paper must be completed and attached to the typed interview. The reflection paper will address your feelings concerning the interview, the agency, the social work role within the agency, the clients served, how interview information relates to course work, feelings toward a social work career and if the interview positively or negatively changed your perception of social work. The reflection paper must be no less than 4 typed double spaced pages. It must be written in 3rd person singular, in APA format, and must contain references from lecture, your textbook, and at least one scholarly journal article.

GRADING: This assignment constitutes twenty-five percent (25%) of your final grade in this class.
