MEETING SNAPSHOT

Adverse Weather Policy Update
Guest Speaker, Liz Grimes, AVC HR

UNCW was not granted Condition 3 for the early January weather event due to how the policy defines each condition (more information). Concerns about the policy, how approvals for the conditions are granted, and lack of consistency with granting employees make-up time (only with supervisor approval) have been expressed to HR and shared with the UNC System and Office of State Human Resources. Change to the policy requires legislative action. Staff in attendance at our meeting also shared their concerns that rules for logging time were not easy to understand.

Make-Up Hours:
• The 90-day deadline to make up time logged as Adverse Weather is April 4, 2018.
• If hours were logged as vacation time, with supervisor approval, you can work extra hours to accumulate comp time, which will be used for future vacation leave.
• Click here for additional information and FAQs.
• Contact your leavekeeper with questions!

Adverse Weather Policy: Moving Forward
A Word from the Staff Senate Chair

Staff Senate leadership met with Chancellor Sartarelli to share staff concerns about the adverse weather policy and expressed a desire to have them addressed at a higher level. Human Resources has also worked diligently with the senate through ongoing discussions about the policy, and is sharing all concerns with the Office of State Human Resources. In addition, senate leadership has engaged in discussions with the UNC Staff Assembly and will continue to do so alongside fellow UNC System institution representatives. We can move forward knowing that we are actively collaborating and communicating where possible.
